Overview

Where will stationary energy storage be available in 2030?

The largest markets for stationary energy storage in 2030 are projected to be in North America (41.1 GWh), China (32.6 GWh), and Europe (31.2 GWh). Excluding China, Japan (2.3 GWh) and South Korea (1.2 GWh) comprise a large part of the rest of the Asian market.

What is the energy storage Grand Challenge (ESGC)?

As part of the U.S. Department of Energy's (DOE's) Energy Storage Grand Challenge (ESGC), DOE intends to synthesize and disseminate best-available energy storage data, information, and analysis to inform decision-making and accelerate technology adoption.

Can stationary energy storage improve grid reliability?

Although once considered the missing link for high levels of grid-tied renewable electricity, stationary energy storage is no longer seen as a barrier, but rather a real opportunity to identify the most cost-effective technologies for increasing grid reliability, resilience, and demand management.

What is the growth rate of stationary storage in 2030?

By 2030, annual global deployments of stationary storage (excluding PSH) is projected to exceed 300 GWh, representing a 27% compound annual growth rate (CAGR) for grid-related storage and an 8% CAGR for use in industrial applications such as warehouse logistics and data centers.

What is the growth rate of industrial energy storage?

The majority of the growth is due to forklifts (8% CAGR). UPS and data centers show moderate growth (4% CAGR) and telecom backup battery demand shows the lowest growth level (2% CAGR) through 2030. Figure 8. Projected global industrial energy storage deployments by application.

What will mobility storage demand be in 2030?

Analysts project mobility storage demands in 2030 of 0.8 to 3.0 TWh, with the demand for light-duty EVs dominating near-term markets.
