The World Bank has provided Botswana, one of the world's fastest-growing economies, with a loan to finance a 50 MW/200 MWh battery energy storage system, the nation's biggest such project to date. Botswana has received an $88 million loan from the World Bank for its first utility-scale battery.

The World Bank Group has approved plans to develop Botswana's first utility-scale battery energy storage system (BESS) with 50MW output and 200MWh storage capacity. The World Bank will support the 4-hour duration BESS via a loan of US$88 million. It will also receive a US$30 million loan and a US$4.

y-scale BESS project in Vermont with 2.5MW of battery storage in the New England state. CS Energy will be prime contractor and improved electricity services within the country. The project is aimed at supporting Botswana's energy storage sector that we have reported on this year. It's been a positive.
