Credit: Ezra Group A public-private partnership in South Sudan has launched the country's first major solar power plant and Battery Energy Storage System (BESS) in the capital Juba, where it is expected to provide electricity to thousands of homes.

How will solar power help South Sudan?

By integrating renewable energy into the national grid, the initiative supports South Sudan's environmental sustainability goals while making electricity more affordable and accessible for the local population. The 20 MW solar plant will generate enough electricity to power approximately 16,000 households in Juba.

How much does a power station cost in South Sudan?

This power station is an attempt to (a) diversify the country's generation mix (b) increase the country's generation capacity and (c) increase the number of South Sudan's homes, businesses and industries connected to the national grid. The power station is reported to cost an estimated US$45 million to construct.

How much electricity does South Sudan have?

In March 2020, South Sudan's installed generation capacity was reported as approximately 130 MW. Most of the electricity in the country is concentrated in Juba the capital and in the regional centers of Malakal and Wau. At that time the demand for electricity in the county was estimated at over 300 MW and growing.

Why is SSEC a success in South Sudan?

The success of this project is largely due to the strategic collaboration with key partners, including the South Sudan Electricity Corporation (SSEC) and the Ministry of Energy and Dams, which oversee electricity generation, transmission, and distribution across the country.
